A forum hosted by the Indianapolis Recorder & Herd Strategies is taking place on Thursday September 24, 2015 from 6:00-7:30 pm at the Central Library (40 E St

Clair St, Indianapolis, IN 46204) to help minority communities, college students, ex-felons and individuals with language barriers better understand voting rights in Indiana as well as the overall electoral process. Experts will be on hand to answer questions and provide assistance designed to eliminate obstacles that may prevent individuals from making it to the polls on Election Day.

A strong democracy requires active participation from all members of our community. Mark your calendar now to attend.

Your vote matters. We can't wait.
